Rubbish Cake (and it really was!)

Josh has only been cooking for 1 hour and 3 minutes and that's 1 hour and 3 minutes too long for my liking. He's known as Chef J or THE WORST BAKER IN THE WORLD.

When it came out onto my table I was so surprised. It smelt like someone had thrown a dead fish onto it and then chucked that into the sewers. It was revolting. I peeked through the door of the kitchen and I am sure I saw him pick his nose and scratch his bum.

The only thing that was ok to eat was a slither of icing on the side of the cake but I think it just slipped off someone else's cake and landed on his. The plate looked better than anything else because the cake had bits of flour in it, if it was flour, it could've just been baby powder or dust and the sponge could've been an actual sponge.

If I would give him any improvement it would be don't try to cook and I would not recommend it to anyone because even if you had one bite of it you would feel horribly ill.

Overall it would get half a star because of the slither of icing and the plate. Nothing at all to do with the cake.

Absolutely Rubbish!!
