Friday message from Mrs Griffiths

"It is not enough to simply teach children to read; we have to give them something worth reading. Something that will stretch their imaginations - something that will help them make sense of their own lives and encourage them to reach out towards people whose lives are quite different from their own"

Katherine Patterson

Dear Parents/Carers,

Books and reading have always been a passion of mine and one of the things I have always loved about working in a school is the joy of being able to share that love with children. Books allow us to enter worlds we might otherwise never experience, and it is wonderful to have a library that is stocked with a variety of books that will appeal to our children and hopefully help to develop children's reading habits.

On World Book Day, yesterday, it was lovely to see the children coming in wearing their pjs and onesies and looking at all the books that had been donated to help us raise money to develop our library even more. The plans for the new look library are to create a space where children will enjoy selecting, reading and listening to books and stories.

I would like to thank everyone who donated books and bought books to support us. The hall looked amazing with all the books spread out. It was exciting to see the breadth of books the children had to choose from. Also, a big thank you to the parents who were able to come in and share a story with the children. If there is anyone who can spare an hour or two to come into school to listen to our children read or share a story with them, please contact the school office.

Have a lovely weekend and happy reading.
